WILLIS AILS

By Buster Willis

We hear that Bob Varner, South Bay policeman, is on the spot again. He had his deputy sheriff's commission revoked a few days ago by Sheriff "Jack" Baker at the request of several residents who charge that he was a "speed trap" in all fairness to the officer and the Town of South Bay we want to say that these reports of a "speed trap" were generated by the writer and found to lack any foundation. Could be that I'm a poor investigator.

Anyhow the Town Council of South Bay at their regular meeting Tuesday night expressed confidence in their officer and bought him a new uniform for $22.50. And since he has been relieved of his deputy sheriff's duties will devote 100 percent of his time to being a town policeman and traffic cop. My advice is to slow down going hard South Bay. Bob isn't hard to get along with if you are reasonable when he stops you but you can bet that he'll stop you if you go through that too fast.

The best story we've heard coming from the county is that a lady had driven four miles to attend a test. She thinks it was one of the "triplets" she's been hearing about.

A gangster from Palm Beach who had just been arrested in the rain, adjourned to a chicken dinner place for repeat about eight o'clock. The chicken was served. There were seventeen in the party. The manager was heard to remark to another customer that he would hate to have the same crowd from the Glades as patrons if beans were bringing five bucks a hamper if they were, that he was happy and noisy when the rain was higher, and farming operations out here.

THINGS THEY'VE LEARNED

Helpful Information Given in Question and Answer Form

What the most promising branch of livestock work for the Everglades at present?

The raising of steers for production of a successful agricultural enterprise in southern Florida because there is a great need for such a program in Florida's growing livestock industry.

Florida supplies a relatively small part of the local demand for the higher grades of beef and a large portion of the lower grades. The grade offspring from purebred sires have an inherited ability to produce good beef if given an opportunity through proper management to develop the flesh and quality desired by the consumer. Steer feeding experiments conducted at the Everglades Experiment Station are discussed in Bulletin No. 24, "Cattle Feeding in Southern Florida" by R. W. Kidd and W. G. Kirk. These experiments have shown that grasses are forage crops grown successfully in the Everglades can be used for fattening steers, that they produce a good quality of beef, equal to similar grades grown in other regions.

Some of the factors essential to a successful steer feeding program in southern Florida are discussed in this bulletin. A well chosen ration, fed properly to selected lot of feeder steers should produce high grade slaughter calves at a reasonable profit to the owner.

Copies of Bulletin 260 will be available on request from the Agricultural Experiment Station, Homestead, Florida, or from the County Agricultural Agent or from the Everglades Experiment Station.

Acres Increase In Fall Farming Is Seen For Area

Estimates of Different Farmers Vary Greatly

Estimates as to the number of acres of truck crops to be planted in the Everglades this fall vary greatly among the farmers, brokers and railroad men who are vitally interested, there being as much as a thousand acres difference in estimates on celery alone.

After considerable analysis and comparisons of estimates the following are believed to be as accurate as it is possible at this time.

Celery, 2,500 acres; cabbage, 1,000 acres; lettuce, 550 acres; escarole, 300 acres; romaine, 125 acres; chichory, 125 acres. These estimates cover the leafy vegetable crops in the entire Glades section.

Beans, of course, as usual will be the heaviest crop in the Glades. Estimates as to the number of acres range from 6,000 to 12,000. There are reports of a shortage of tendergreen bean seed, but other varieties are said to be plentiful.

Early potatoes which are now being planted will possibly reach 2,500 acres. Some estimates are that about 400 acres of already planted will be lost because of the recent heavy rains.

Peas, peppers, eggplants and other crops planted in smaller quantities will probably bring the total number of acres in the area to between 18,000 and 20,000.

representative of one of the larger brokerage firms in this section who has just returned from a survey of celery plantings in the state estimates that there will be between 6,000 and 6,500 acres grown in the entire state.

FLORIDA'S RECRUITS GET UNUSUAL BREAK

Applicants for enlistment in United States Navy in this recruiting territory who are successful in meeting the requirements for enlistment are fortunate in that they receive the counsel of a man who has seen thirty-four years of service in Uncle Sam's navy and "knows the ropes."

Lieutenant Stanley Jones, recruiting officer for the area takes great interest in every recruit that passes through his office, giving them the highlights of his own experience in the Navy from the time he enlisted as an apprentice seaman. This naval officer entered the Navy at the age of 17 without the advantage of a day's instruction in high school. He worked his way through the ranks and received his commission after 10 years of service as an enlisted man.

Every recruit that is accepted for the Navy in this territory gets an inspiring lecture from Lieutenant Jones before he departs for the Naval Training Station, which is considered by many to be quite a break for the young Floridians who choose this attractive branch of Uncle Sam's Service.

A hundred acres of Guinea Grass on the Fritz Stein and the Glades Farm, owned by the Glades Farm Advertiser, are now being harvested for seed by Charles Weekley of the Woodruff Seed Co., of Welford, Conn., who have sent a grass strapper up from Homestead to harvest the seed heads. This grass, which is used for pasture according to Roy E. Hudson, who has farmed on Kremer for several years, was introduced by Mr. Waggoner years ago.

The grass seed may be broadcast by hand three pounds to the acre. It will produce three crops of seed during the summer and fall, and is considered an excellent cover crop. Mr. Hudson said.

FICTITIOUS NAME LAW

The fictitious name law passed by the 1941 legislature was enacted to protect reputable businesses and the public against slyster organizations, and it would be in the best interest of business firms and individuals to comply with the simple provisions of the act.

Nearly every type of business may have an occasion to file a suit in civil court to collect payments due, but unless the law has been complied with the suit may be thrown out of court.

BUSINESS OPPORTUNITY IGNORED

What we can't understand about this gasoline shortage and the discussion about available tank cars on the railroads, is why the men who sell gasoline and the men who will transportation can't get together and use the tank cars without waiting upon a governmental investigation and consequent red tape.

If the tank cars are available, and if they can haul gasoline, the Eastern States, the railway magnates and the gasoline companies can proceed with business and get the gas where it can be used.

Here it seems to us is a perfectly good business proposition and why the waste, money and so-called private initiative aspect. There is ample gasoline in the producing states and the railroad people say there are ample tank cars. Certainly, no one disputes that there are ample prospective purchasers for full gasoline supplies.

A PECULIAR DUCK

Colonel Lindbergh wants the United States that Great Britain may turn against us and be fighting us while the world situation is peaceful!

The oceanic liner hasn't seen fit to warn us of Germany, although Hitler has killed small nations and the rights of their people. Moreover, the Nazis have systematically robbed every land they have occupied.

Perhaps, the colonel is not convinced that the Nazi system is evil and believes that it would be a good thing for the United States. It is worth noting that while he denounces his own country and British, Mr. Lindbergh has no word of criticism for the Nazis.

He is a peculiar duck, to say the least.

BEAUTIES IN SCANTIES

We are getting fed up on the pictures of beauties, half-clad and posed, as they prance around the exhibition halls for a chance to be called a "beauty queen."

The contest idea has been overdone so far as feminine shapeliness is concerned and some of the contestants seem to be ready for anything so long as it is called a "contest" with a prize to be awarded for puletritude.

The obvious answer is that the public is girl-conscious and the answer may be altogether correct. Just you go and ask the time for some smart girls to figure out that there might be just a bit of allure in less exhibitionism. There might be!

The value of advertising depends upon the people who read it; they can't read it if they don't see it.

The man in trouble is not comforted by the thought that any of his friends can tell him how to forget it.

What has become of the man who, ten years ago, planned to work hard and then enjoy a long vacation.

Farmers are being urged to increase their production of foodstuffs upon the theory that when the shooting ends people will still have to eat.

American newspapers print a lot of slop from Berlin but German newspapers print nothing from the United States, except what the Foreign Office permits them to print. No wonder Hitler thinks we are saps.

Probly Facts

By Dick Leftis

On helping the kids with their school lessons it's a toss up as to which is getting the most good out of it, the wife, the kids or myself. In fact if all we keep learning as we have in the last few days I believe we both will be able to graduate right along with the kids. After another year or two I don't keep up with them I will be more of a handy cap to the youngsters than I will be good when it comes to teaching them anything for they will be far above my knowledge. The wife is the one that is the strong arm of the law, helping the one that is in the fourth grade. But I have it a little easier for I help the one that is in the second grade.

There is an awful race on round here as to who builds the biggest and the most expensive house and which one can put the most automatic gadgets in the things. In fact it seems like the ones that build the most expensive houses are building larger houses after all their children have married off. Course there are some ways to look at that for there always a possibility for a few of the indoors or outdoors to move in on a fellow and if you have the rooms fixed up to comfortable you may have a job getting rid of them, so if you stick to

Selectees Will Travel To Camp By Motor Bus

Chicago—America's selectees "caught the bus" with the announcement last week of an agreement made between the government and the motor bus industry which calls for the transportation of selectees from their home cities to camp by motor coach.

The agreement is now effective, according to announcement made here by Arthur M. Hill, President of the National Association of Motor Bus Operators and L. G. Markel, Chairman of the National Bus Traffic Association, Inc. The announcement points out that the agreement makes motor coach transportation for selectees a preferred choice over other forms of transportation, all factors being equal. The reason for this preferred rating is found in the combination of operating flexibility and frequency of schedules of buses. The decentralization of America's defense has located factories, construction projects, military bases, and army camps far from the homes of workers and soldiers, and Mr. Hill emphasized, buses provide the needed operating flexibility because they can follow any highway route. As a matter of fact, there are 45,000 inland communities which rely solely on buses for transportation. Also, the greater number of schedules and departures which the bus lines offer afford greater convenience to a constant stream of workers, selectees and soldiers.

Selectees will travel on a government transportation request, which will be honored by the bus lines and redeemed by the government after transportation has been furnished. Fares for such transportation will be lower than the fares available to commercial traffic.

Mr. Hill mentioned that the formal agreement represents another step in the motor bus industry's effort to cooperate with the government in national defense. The agreement was signed by National Director of Selective Service Lewis B. Hershey after an extended trial period during which bus operators were assigned numerous problems in connection with government transport. One of these problems was connected with the assembly and handling of selectees from isolated small communities to a central point. Another problem was worked out successfully by bus operators concerned a troop movement made early in 1941, in which 124 soldiers of the 153rd Arkansas Infantry were transported from armories scattered about the state of Arkansas to Camp Joseph T. Robinson. Buses used in this test were required to travel convoy formation in order to simulate actual wartime conditions, and the entire operation was the object of careful study by army officials.

South Bay Parent Teacher's Association Met This Week

Mrs. W. M. Jeffries presided at a called meeting of the South Bay Parent Teacher Association at the school auditorium Monday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock. She announced the appointment of Mrs. A. L. Byrd as publicity chairman to make the posters announcing the meetings and arrange for other publicity. Mrs. Evelyn Jordan was appointed as the third member of the program committee.

It was decided to run one study course in connection with the regular meetings and action on other study courses was delayed for further consideration. Three study courses are available which have been recommended by the Florida Congress of Parents and Teachers.

The names of the room mothers were announced: Mrs. O. H. Martin for 6th grade, Mrs. J. H. Harrell for the 5th grade, Mrs. V. N. Greer and Mrs. E. E. Dasher for the 3rd and 4th grades, Mrs. G. L. Miller and Mrs. L. O. Ratley for the 1st and 2nd grades. These room mothers will meet in the near future to organize for the years work and select their chairman and arrange for the annual membership drive.

A recommendation was presented by the executive board to change the by-laws in order to reduce the membership fee from 50c to 25c per member. This will be voted upon at a later meeting.

Principal Johnwick announced that the stage scenery is in need of reconditioning and asked that labor be donated for the purpose of doing this material to be furnished by the school. Mr. Johnwick also requested the donation of loan of books to the school. These books may be turned over to Mrs. Anna Keene, librarian. He also asked community survey to be made this fall by the members of the 9th grade civics class.

Ways and means were discussed for transporting the children to the clinics. Nine eye clinics and 18 dental clinics have been scheduled for the South Bay pupils for this year. All children attending the clinics are expected to pay 25c for their transportation to the clinic.

Those attending included Mrs. R. L. Lovell, Mrs. Elisha Johnson, Mrs. V. N. Greer, Mrs. W. M. Jeffries, Mrs. Anna Keene, Mrs. R. A. Hall, Mrs. E. E. Dasher, Mrs. A. L. Byrd, Mrs. T. W. Jones, Miss Marie Hampton, Miss Elizabeth Hall, Mrs. L. M. Knight, Mrs. G. J. Barstow and Miss Frances Clements.

Too Late To Classify

By

RUSSELL KAY

Editor Allen Andrews, publisher of the American Eagle at Estero, is a friendly kindly soul and can be usually counted upon to cooperate fully in any constructive effort.

Ordinarily he leads a calm and peaceful existence and it takes a lot to get him worked up to the point of flinging an editorial harpoon at anyone.

But even the worm will turn, we are told, and likewise the meekest and mildest of men can "stand just so much."

Last week, opening his mail, Allen found himself wading through a mass of press releases. Reaching over to pull the waste-basket a bit closer so that he could handle them in routine manner, his eye chanced to catch the words "waste paper."

Staying his hand that was automatically taking the mimeographed sheet to the wastebasket, he took time to read and ponder over the following appeal from the government.

"Washington, D. C.—Waste paper now joins the nation's parade of defense needs. It was announced Saturday night by officials of the Office of Production Management.

"A national collection campaign, conducted by the waste paper consuming industries and supported by the OPM, will begin this week in New York City, Chicago and Milwaukee. Thereafter the program will spread to other cities . . . housewives, small business houses and industries will be asked to save waste paper."

Allen looked at his desk all cluttered up with official looking envelopes all stuffed with gobs of carefully folded sheets of "waste paper," then he gazed upon his trusty waste basket, filled to overflowing with similar material. It was too much. Snorting like a caribou, he yanked the offending message back from oblivion, spread it out before him and studied for his battered typewriter.

Allen, along with other patriotic fellow citizens, had voluntarily contributed his share to the national aluminum drive, to the extent of his ability he was buying Defense Bonds and Savings Stamps; he had even gone along with Harold Lakes and his crewball gas-saving program.

But when his government deliberately bombarded him with gobs and gobs of waste paper and then admonished him to please save it for "em, that was the straw that broke the camel's vertebrae.

Choosing language "fit to print" with difficulty, the humble country editor pointed out that from countless governmental departments, bureaus, boards, committees and commissions, he received a never-ending flow of so-called "news" releases. So much, in fact, that if some enterprising statistician were to gather it all up and lay it end to end it would probably reach from hell to breakfast.

Practically every governmental bureau has its own publicity man of men whose job it is to sing the praises of the particular activity with whom he or they may be employed. Their job is to disseminate propaganda and publicity material that the experienced "news hawk" and news gathering agencies won't handle. To justify their existence they must keep typewritten clicking and multigraph humming.

Allen points out, if the "save waste paper" campaign were started in Washington instead of dumping tons and tons of this trash in the mails each day, trucks could be sent from office to office and bureau to bureau to collect and bail it as fast as it comes from the mimeograph, it would probably go a long way toward slowing the paper shortage, would be just as effective from the standpoint of results, and at the same time would tend to relieve the overburdened mails.

Closing his editorial peevish Allen says: "Calls from Washington to the people of the United States will have little effect while wholesale waste of perfectly good paper is permitted to continue from state and federal departments. Under existing circumstances, such an economic policy is like saving at the spigot and wasting at the bung hole. First stop this weekly avalanche of press dope that nobody reads, and there will be little need to call on business men and housewives to save the waste paper that accumulates in homes and places of business."

The Navy Needs Men

Beginning this week the U. S. Navy is advertising for recruits to man the many new ships to complete the TWO-OCEAN NAVY that is so vital to our National Defense.

The Navy offers wonderful opportunities to young men to learn trades that will be beneficial to them in civilian life when they have completed their service. If they prefer to remain in the Naval service advancement is rapid for those who show aptitude in any particular line and retirement pay is adequate to sustain you when you do retire.

The Naval reserve is accepting men between the ages of 17 and 50 for the duration of the emergency. You may enlist in the regular Navy for six years if you are 17 and less than thirty one. If you are in these age brackets
